Brent, this is what I understand is going on regarding water hauling for irrigation:

Water hauling operations are beginning for in Navajo. Randy Nattis participated in a 2:00 pm public meeting in Farmington to address Farming / AQ issues (with Region 6). We have 10 water trucks and will hopefully start transporting water ASAP (once we get names and locations). EPA is also expecting the need to purchase and distribute feed for livestock. Since livestock are being restricted from the river, they are being contained to a smaller number of grazing fields. We will need to augment the feed source.

Is this what they're looking for, or are they looking for a phone number for the National Guard? If Clancy was thinking the toll free number was something people could use, I can't recommend using it since at this point, nobody has explained who is answering the phone, who will be calling them back, and our initial call to them demonstrated that the person on the other end of the phone didn't even know they were answering questions about the Gold King Mine.

Ya at eeh,

Just a heads up to where a plan can be formulated.

The Nat'l Guard water hogs could load at NAPI canals.

Each of the NM chapters along the San Juan need this assistance.

Thank you for your help

Hey bro,

Is it time to reach out to Udall, Lujan and Gov Martinez to have Nat'l Guard to do the water hauling?

Chapter effort seems like teaspoon effect.

Just a thought.

Daniel
